3 Type the amount you want to add in pool

The screenshot shows a web interface with a dark purple header and a light purple sidebar. The main content area has a form with the following fields: #, Pair, Ratio, Volume, and Change. The form is divided into two columns. The left column has a token selection dropdown (Token B / TKB), an 'Add' button, a text input field (highlighted with an orange circle), and a balance display (Balance : 992019.33). The right column has a token selection dropdown (Token A / TKA), an 'Add' button, a text input field (containing 0), and a balance display (Balance : 986926.75). Below the form are two large buttons: ADD and CANCEL.

#	Pair	Ratio	Volume	Change
	 Token B /TKB Add 0 Balance : 992019.33	 Token A /TKA Add 0 Balance : 986926.75

- 4 The second input is calculated from the current ratio of the pool

The screenshot shows a web interface for a DeFi pool. At the top, there's a navigation bar with 'Home' and 'Pool' (highlighted). Below it, a header row contains 'Ratio', 'Volume', 'Change', and 'Action'. The main content area is divided into two columns. The left column is for 'Token B /TKB' and the right for 'Token A /TKA'. Each column has an 'Add' label, an input field, and a balance display. In the 'Token A' input field, the number '50' is entered and highlighted with an orange circle. Below the input fields are two large buttons: 'ADD' and 'CANCEL'. To the right of the main form, there are additional buttons labeled 'ADD' and 'CLAIM'.

- 5 ADD!

This screenshot shows the same DeFi interface as the previous one, but with the 'ADD' button highlighted by an orange circle. The input fields for 'Token B' and 'Token A' now contain the values '100' and '50' respectively. The balance for 'Token B' is '992019.33' and for 'Token A' is '986926.75'. The 'ADD' button is prominently displayed in the center of the form, and the 'CANCEL' button is below it.
